Will Attend Services Sunday with Mrs. Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today began a quiet Easter weekend devoted to office work, relaxation and prayer. The President scheduled a series of early morning appointments including a private meeting with Sen. George W. Malone (R-Nev.). The President has met privately at the White House with only one other senator—Walter F. George (D-Ga.)—since his heart attack last September.

Mr. Eisenhower also scheduled a meeting with Gov. Walter Gordon of the Virgin Islands and retiring Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower will attend Easter Services Sunday at National Presbyterian church. Mrs. Eisenhower was expected to wear one of seven new spring hats purchased from her favorite designer, Sally Victor.

The President will officially open the traditional Easter egg roll Monday on the White House south lawn for thousands of children.

The Eisenhowers Friday attended part of a special three-hour Good Friday service at National Presbyterian church.

They arrived about midway in the service and stood in the rear of the church with other members of the congregation until the time for the next part of the program to begin.

Then the Eisenhowers took their regular seats for a 20-minute devotional service on the "fourth word" spoken by Christ on the cross: "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?"

OIL REPORT:

Wildcat Test New Hot Spot In Galatia Area

Taken from the Robertson Tri-State Oil Report

Galatia township this week had another hot spot in the tri-state oil picture—a wildcat a mile away from other production.

It is the Wilson-Teachers Unit No. 1, NW NE SE, 8-8s-5e, four miles west of Galatia, owned by the V. S. & S. Drilling Co. of Springfield, Ill. This company is composed of Arnold Valters, A. R. Smith and Milton Smith.

The Wilson-Teachers No. 1 was awaiting cable tests to test the Aux Vases sand at 2926-44 after recovering 12 feet of saturated sand when cored at 2926-49.

Another wildcat, which is a mile southeast of Wilson-Teachers, is one R. W. (Dick) Portis is drilling—the W. E. Reed No. 1, NE SE NE, 18-8s-5e.

Completions for the period ending March 27 showed four producers and no dry holes. Two of the producers were in the hot Galatia township area, one in Tate and one in Eldorado township.

Delwood's Delwood Heflin No. 2, NE NE NW, 15-8s-5e, which made a well in the Aux Vases sand at 2866-84, the Aux Vases lime at 2816-25 and the O'Hara at 2954-57 and 71-79 with initial production 20 barrels per day on pump after acidization.

Olen D. Sharp's Pearl Webber No. 2, SW SE SW, 10-8s-5e, which made a well in the RC at 2963-88 with initial production 450 barrels per day on flow through a choke after acidization and fracture.

In Eldorado township, W. C. McBride's C. E. Burnett No. 3-A, NE NW NW, 15-8s-7e, made a well in the Cypress at 2998-2908 with initial production 38 barrels of oil and eight of water per day on pump.

In Tate township, C. E. Brehm's Williams Communized No. 1, NW SW NE, 30-7s-5e, made a well in the Aux Vases with initial production 105 barrels per day on pump after fracture.

County Historical Society to Meet Tuesday Evening at Public Library

The Saline County Historical society will hold its regular meeting in the lower rooms of the Harrisburg Public Library at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, April 3.

The president, Louis Aaron, will announce the list of committees he has appointed to serve the coming year. Also, a discussion of the new year's work is to be made. This is always unusually challenging as old projects are written off as completed, and new ones are adopted in the determination to push forward and achieve them in the interest of history.

The program for the evening will feature a talk to be given by J. O. Austin, principal of the Ridgeway high school. Mr. Austin, after World War II worked with the

Grief-Stricken Parents Hope Air Force Will Fly Both to Dying Son

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP)—The grief-stricken parents of a dying airman prayed today that the Air Force will fly both of them to the side of their son at an Air Force hospital.

The couple, Charles H. Baugh, 47, and his wife, Eula, were informed Wednesday their son had been stricken with the dread blood disease, leukemia, at a base near Casablanca, and was "not expected to recover."

The youth, Airman 2c Donald L. Baugh, 21, is scheduled to be flown to the 7100th Air Force Hospital at Wiesbaden, Germany, Tuesday. The Air Force has agreed to provide transportation for one parent from New York.

Baugh, an unemployed pipefitter, appealed to the Red Cross for assistance because "we just don't have enough money for a ticket to New York."

He said he and his wife have not been able to decide who will stay behind if only one is allowed to go to their only son on his death bed. Baugh said they hoped the Air Force would relent and fly both of them to the hospital.

The news that their son was dying of leukemia came as a shock to the parents. Only 24 hours earlier they had received a cheerful letter from him saying he was to be reassigned to the states and would be home on leave by April 15.

"He was all excited about the idea of coming home to do some fishing with me," Baugh said.

The airman, Baugh said, has been in the Air Force for two years and had spent 18 months of that time overseas.

The Baughs have two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Kephart, 27, and a brother, Wilma Creason of Gary, Ind., a brother, Marion Pierce of Harrisburg and a half sister, Rene Woods, who lives in California. A brother, Fred, preceded him in death.

Conducting the funeral service will be the Rev. John Yuhas, pastor of the Sloan Street General Baptist church. Burial will be in Sunset Hill cemetery.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the Gaskins funeral home for Eslee Pierce, 68-year-old retired miner who died of a heart condition at 2:15 p. m. Friday at his home, 512 North Land street.

Mr. Pierce had been suffering from the condition for the past year and a half.

CCC Reports Shortage Corn Storage Space

ASC Says Gov't Will Ask Bids for New Bins in State

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The Commodity Credit Corporation is faced with shortages of space for storing at least 50 million bushels of the 1955 Illinois corn crop, an Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service official said today.

Glen Fisher, of the ASC Springfield office, said that within the next few days the federal government will call for bids "on quite a block of storage space" for construction of new bins and storage space.

As of the end of March, Fisher said, the CCC had about 114 million bushels of corn stored in Illinois, which it received from farmers who obtained loans under the price support program.

The CCC has space for about 155 million bushels. This means that at the end of March there was space available for about 40 million bushels of corn.

Fisher said the CCC has on hand shipment or sale orders for about 6 million bushels, which could increase the amount of available space to about 46 million bushels.

But about 85 1-2 million bushels of the 1955 corn crop has been placed under the support program, and officials expect the figure to hit about 125 million bushels by the May 31 deadline for getting corn under the program.

None of this corn is now stored by the government but most of it will be turned over to the CCC this summer.

Even counting on sales of presently stored corn, increased bin construction by private warehouses, and failure to hit the 125-million-bushel 1955 crop loan mark, Fisher said the CCC would be short of space for 50 million bushels at "an absolute minimum."

Fisher said a critical shortage of boxcars for shipping corn was adding to the space shortage. This slowed down shipments on sale orders.

Stevenson, Kefauver Supporters To Hold Rival Meetings Monday

By United Press

Monday will be a hectic day of politicking in Illinois.

Supporters of Democratic presidential candidates Adlai E. Stevenson and Estes Kefauver will be vying for support in Springfield, and Republican candidates for state office will be whirling through a series of round-robin meetings in Du Page County.

Backers of U. S. Sen. Estes Kefauver announced Thursday they will try to take the steam out of a state organization Democratic meeting at which former Governor Stevenson is the main speaker.

The Kefauver meeting, with officials of the "Kefauver for President" group as speakers, is due to start shortly before the regular organization meeting gets under way.

It was organized by John R. (Buck) Asher, Paris, 21st Congressional District state central committeeman who had previously announced for Kefauver. Stevenson has the backing of the State Central Committee majority.

Asher said he decided to call the Kefauver meeting after talking with downstate "grass roots" Democrats including 30 county chairmen who, he said, did not think they could win with Stevenson.

Herbert L. Lockwood, Chicago attorney and co-chairman of the Illinois Kefauver organization, and A. Bradley Eben, vice chairman of the national Kefauver group, are scheduled to attend.

Stevenson, former National Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and State Chairman James A. Ronan will speak at the regular Illinois organization meeting.

Dr. Webb Returns Home Following Tour of Church Missions in Mexico

Dr. L. I. Webb, Harrisburg dentist, has returned home following a tour of church mission stations in Mexico.

There were 51 laymen, representing thirteen states and the District of Columbia, in the Baptist Brotherhood sponsored group visiting the Mexican Christian mission stations. Dr. Webb was the only Illinois layman on the tour.

The group met in Laredo, Texas. Cities visited in Mexico included Saltillo, Torreon, Durango, Leon, Guadalupe, Uruapan, Toluca and Mexico City.

Usually the entire party of 51 churchmen travelled together to the principal cities, then divided into smaller groups to visit with the missionaries at their outlying stations.

Dr. Webb said they found the people to be very friendly toward Americans.

He stated all church buildings are government owned, but there is freedom of worship. All church pastors must be native born Mexicans, with missionaries being either teachers or advisers, Dr. Webb declared.

Would Delay Eisenhower's Open Sky Plea

Preliminary

Western Reaction

Reported Favorable

LONDON (AP)—Russia's latest disarmament plan would delay action on President Eisenhower's "Open Skies" plan and impose an immediate ban on atomic weapons in divided Germany, it was reported today.

The Soviet agency Tass said the plan provides that money saved through arms reductions should be used for UN aid to underdeveloped countries.

Tass said the plan the Russians submitted to the five-nation arms conference here this week would put the President's aerial inspection plan into effect only after "confidence between states has been consolidated" at some indefinite future date.

The Tass version of the Soviet plan confirmed Soviet reports that the Russians have dropped their demand for an immediate ban on all atomic weapons, but are still holding out for a localized ban in both East and West Germany.

Preliminary Reaction Favorable. The United States and other Western nations will not reply formally to the Russian proposal until sometime next week, but preliminary Western reaction has been generally favorable.

One American source said the Soviet plan appears to be sincere, in contrast to past proposals intended primarily for propaganda purposes.

The Russian plan was the third presented to the London conference, following the introduction of American proposals and a joint Anglo-French program. Only Canada among the conference nations has not offered a plan of its own.

Russia reacted coolly to both Western plans.

Tass said the Soviet plan calls for gradual reduction of armed forces and non-atomic weapons during the years 1956 to 1958, beginning with a three-month period during which arms would be frozen at the levels of last Dec. 31.

At the end of the three months, it calls for the United States, Russia and Red China to begin reducing their armies to "levels from one-million to 1,500,000." Britain and France would cut down to 650,000, and other nations to a total of no more than 200,000 men under arms.

An obvious joker in this proposal is the fact it would give the major Communist nations a possible maximum of three-million troops to 2,800,000 for the Western Big Three powers.

The Russians also were said to propose creation of a "zone of limitation" including "both parts of Germany" and also of unidentified neighboring states, within which foreign troop allotments would be limited and atomic weapons banned.

The United States now has artillery, rockets and guided missiles in Germany which could carry atomic warheads, but so far as is known it has no actual atomic weapons in that country.

Farm Prices Slightly Higher

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — Illinois farm prices averaged one-half of 1 per cent higher in mid-March than they did in mid-February, the State Crop Reporting Service reported today.
Substantial rises in corn and soybeans were responsible for the modest over-all climb. Corn went from $1.16 to $1.37 a bushel, and soybeans from $2.33 to $2.61. Hay was the only crop to decrease during the one-month period.
Hogs, cattle and lambs showed nominal gains but sheep and milk prices were lower and the livestock index remained static.
The all-price index was still down 10 per cent from mid-March, 1955.

Shearing School

The annual sheep shearing school will be held at the Station on April 3, 4, 5 and 6. This is a reminder that all of us should make arrangements soon for shearing our own flocks. We'll need to locate wool sacks and twine for tying fleeces and make arrangements with a shearer. Every year many sheepmen get their fleeces shorn later than they had planned because good shearers are usually busy at this time of year.
Early shearing means cleaner wool with fewer dung locks. Shorn ewes on pasture will take their lambs to shelter during rains or snows sooner than will unshorn ewes. As the fly season comes in, maggots cause less trouble on shorn sheep. Also, early shear-cuts generally help before the fly season arrives. Furthermore, most of us have more time to shear and take care of the wool crop now than we will during the corn-planting and haying season.

Dairy Day

Another Station event coming up is a Dairy Day program on April

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

Although the American people consume large quantities of meat, only a small portion of it comes from sheep. Actually, lamb or mutton consumption hardly is one-fourth that of either the beef or pork which forms the daily and day-out staple of the meat diet.
Lamb comprises most of the meat from sheep. Mutton carcasses seldom grade as high as lamb because they usually come from old animals which are not in as good condition as lambs when marketed.
Most mutton goes into soups and baby foods. Although the total used does not bulk large, it has been found that the lamb trade is fairly constant, varying less from year to year than does beef or pork. It may be interesting to note that 53 percent of the total 1954 lamb production in the United States was consumed in three states —New York, California and Massachusetts.

It may be pointed out here that lamb is popular mostly as a party meat or a special occasion dish—a meat appealing more to a quality trade. Not enough persons serve lamb or mutton. In fact many families never serve it. Price is not the whole problem because not all lamb cuts are priced above the reach of the ordinary family food budget. Rather, the problem may be one of unfamiliarity with the meat and its preparation, or one of inaccessibility because of limited supplies in meat markets.

Most lamb carcasses come from animals less than one year old, although they may go to 14 months before slaughter. Carcasses usually weigh between 35 and 55 pounds.
A "break joint" instead of a "round joint" on the carcass foreleg identifies it as lamb meat. Spring lamb sold as suckling lambs at three to five months of age usually are marketed just before Easter as "Easter lambs."

Mutton comes from sheep which are past the lamb stage. Up to about 20 months old they are classified as yearlings and thereafter as mature mutton. Most of the mature mutton comes from old breeding stock.
Government grades for lamb and mutton, just as in beef, depend primarily on age, conformation, finish, and quality. The same general standards apply to all. The lamb and mutton grades are prime, choice, good, commercial, utility and cull. Mutton carcasses do not usually grade as high as good.
Lambs more often qualify for the best grades because they are young and the meat is tender.

Mutton and lamb of good conformation comes from well-fed sheep that long have been selected for meat production. As in beef, the flavor and tenderness is directly related to the finish—the amount and quality of fat deposited externally and in the fine connective tissues around muscle cells. In high grades the fat is firm and white. The lean of high grade lamb is light pink in color. In mutton it ranges from dark pink or light red for yearlings to dark red in mature mutton.

Judging the age, conformation, finish, and quality of meat—whether beef, lamb or mutton—requires more experience than most consumers and buyers have. Fortunately, they do not need to rely entirely on their own judgment.
Government gradings give them the unbiased opinion of persons who are experts. Packer brands also are a guide in helping to select meat. Government grades are stamped on the carcass with harmless indelible ink so that the name of the assigned grade appears on every major cut.

Consumers also may have the protection of government inspection which insures that the meat is wholesome, coming from healthy animals which have been slaughtered under conditions meeting certain sanitation standards. Inspection occurs mainly in slaughter houses engaged in interstate meat shipment. In buying locally slaughtered meat, consumers must rely on the experience and integrity of the slaughterer because grading and inspection are not obligatory.

Farm Land Value Increases While Income Declines

WASHINGTON (UP) — An unusual aspect of the farm situation is the increase in dollar value of land while farm income is sliding.
The Agriculture Department estimated the total value of farmland and buildings as of Nov. 1 at $101,800,000,000, an average of nearly $88 an acre for the 1,159 million acres in farms. This is an increase of five per cent over November, 1954.

During 1955, farm income dropped one billion dollars, or nine percent, from 1954. It is expected to drop further this year.

Department economists hardly know what to think about the situation.
"During the last two years, the farmland market has shown a unique departure from the usual relationship between land values and farm income," the department said in a publication, the Farm Real Estate Market. "No period of similar length in which values increased as farm income and commodity prices declined, can be observed in the preceding 40 years."

"There is no single explanation of this seeming paradox, but reasons can be found in two general areas."

"One concerns the beliefs and attitudes of people toward land, which have become strong market forces in sustaining demand and in limiting the acreage of land for sale. The other, and probably the most important, deals with the cumulative effects of advancing farm technology on the demand for a limited productive resource."

The department said people generally hold the belief that farmland is still a safe and desirable long-term investment that offers prospects of capital appreciation as the national economy expands. Both farmers and non-farmers consider land an asset which offers security in event of inflation or depression.
In short, land is regarded as a storehouse of wealth that offers more satisfactions than other investments, even though returns have declined.

None of the characteristics usually associated with a land boom can be found in the current situation, the department said. Credit has been extended and used with caution. Purely speculative activity is rare, and the rates of both voluntary transfers and foreclosures are at or near an all-time low.

Renovate Pastures Every Five Years

DIXON SPRINGS—A combination of grasses and legumes will normally give you the most forage in your pastures.

But you shouldn't expect the so-called "permanent" pastures to last more than five years, says George McKibben, extension specialist at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

McKibben suggests that you plan to renovate one-fifth of your permanent pastures every year so that you will have as uniform forage production as varying rainfall will allow. You can expect pastures to produce only 1-10 to 1-4 as much animal gain and 1-4 to 1-2 as much forage during a renovation year as when they are in peak production in their second or third year.
One way to handle the five-year renovation pasture is to divide the ground, seed half of it to Sudan grass in May for late summer pasture and nitrate the other half to get maximum grass production in April, May and June.

The other way to handle fifth-year pasture when most of the legume has disappeared is to nitrate the entire pasture early in the spring and then cut half of it for grass silage to feed during July and August.

In either case the renovating program should include fall plowing and seeding alfalfa and a grass like bromegrass, orchard grass or fescue with a small grain in the fall. Then seed Ladino clover and lespedeza or some other legume combination in the spring.

Two years of experimental work at the Station show how valuable supplemental pastures and forage can be to keep livestock production on an even keel during annual renovation.

In the pasture experiments one of each pair of 12 five-acre fields of redtop-timothy, alta fescue, bromegrass, orchard grass and bluegrass was plowed in the winter of 1953-54 and seeded to Sudan grass in the spring. The other of each pair of grass fields was nitrated in the fall with 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre and again in March 1954 with 200 pounds of the same chemical fertilizer.

Drought conditions limited Sudan growth, and the nitrated grass plots produced about three times as much forage and animal gain per acre as the Sudan plots did. This would have been a good year to store half the nitrated grass as silage for late summer feed.

The Sudan fields were disked and seeded to rye, alfalfa and a grass in the fall of 1954. Ladino clover and lespedeza were seeded in the spring. The grass fields were nitrated the same as the year before.
Average per-acre yield on these grass fields in 1955 was 9,956 pounds of dry matter an acre, of which the animals ate 8,393 pounds and on which they gained an average of 296 pounds an acre during the periods from April 8 to June 23 and July 8 to November 11. This yield compares with an average of 6,596 pounds of dry matter on the newly renovated

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY I am not alone because the Father is with Me. — John 16:32.
This text saved a man from suicide. He turned failure into success because of the new courage faith brought him.

A University of Illinois plant specialist says that the effect of cornstalk rots last year, particularly as lodged corn, ranks among the worst on record.

Soil insecticides increased corn yields last year about 5 bushels an acre on 54 Illinois farms. fields, where animals ate 5,306 pounds of dry matter and gained an average of 36 pounds an acre from June 27 to August 5.

These figures show that nitrogen on grass the fifth year can give you as much as 70 percent of the animal gain and from 50 to 70 percent as much dry matter an acre as you can expect from a good grass-legume pasture in the height of its production where animal gains range from 400 to 450 pounds and forage production from 10, 000 to 12,000 pounds an acre, Mc-Kibben says.

Nitrating grass pastures is a good stop-gap way to keep your livestock program going smoothly on fifth-year pasture from April to July and to give extra spring forage that may be cut for silage to replace pasture for feed during July and August. Many farmers may want to adopt this program this spring where they have lost the legumes in their pastures after two years of drought.

Sell Cull Dairy Cows This Spring

If you are holding unprofitable dairy cows until the beef market goes up, remember that prices of lower grades of beef are usually higher in the spring than in the fall.

J. G. Cash, extension dairy specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says the outlook for neither prices of lower grades of beef nor prices of dairy products appears to warrant holding unprofitable dairy cows.

In addition, Cash points out, selling unprofitable cows will increase your net dairy earnings and will also take surplus milk off the market.

On most Illinois farms, it will pay to cull, as unprofitable, cows of the higher testing breeds that produce less than 5,000 pounds of milk a year and cows of the lower testing breeds that produce less than 7,500 pounds.

The Pankeyville Baptist Sunbeams and Primaries met at the home of the Sunday school teacher,

March 28.

and other games played with prizes being given.

Gary and Karen Sadler, David Allen and two visitors, Nolen Horner

Pope Pius to Give Annual Easter Blessing

VATICAN CITY — Pope Pius XII will renew his appeal for peace in the hydrogen age when he gives his Easter blessing to the world Sunday, it was reported today.

Vatican quarters said perhaps a quarter of a million Romans, pilgrims and tourists will throng obedient St. Peter's Square to hear the 80-year-old Pope's 10-minute speech and receive the blessing he will give to the city and the world.

Heavy rain drenched Rome Friday night and all this morning, and the best the weather bureau would say about Sunday's prospects is that they are "uncertain." If it rains, the Pope probably will broadcast his message from his study instead of making his usual appearance on the central balcony of St. Peter's Basilica.

The Pope's message will climax a holy week which Vatican sources say has set attendance records in Rome's churches.

Vatican quarters said the Pope might mention Moscow's anti-Stalin campaign in his speech, although he usually confines his Easter messages to a general appeal for peace.

On the past two Easters he has spoken of the horrors of atomic warfare. Last year he urged scientists to continue their work for the peaceful use of the atom.

The Pope's words will be heard around the world.

Nautilus Crew Gets First Liberty In 14 Months

NEW ORLEANS — "Liberty ho," echoed through the bulkheads of the Navy's first atomic submarine today as the weary sailors of the Nautilus went ashore in this fun-loving city on their first liberty in 14 months.

Crewmen of the sleek underwater vessel went ashore to live it up in this festival town, famous for its French Quarter night life, good food and Mardi Gras festivals.

The Mardi Gras ended last month but after 14 months at sea testing the slate-gray Nautilus, its sailors won't need any special occasion to make merry during their four-day stay here.

The Nautilus was moored to the Bienville St. wharf here but the Navy ordered "hands off" to all curiosity seekers. No visitors will be allowed aboard the low-lying raft during her stay here.

Air Force C45 Crashes; Three Killed, Two Hurt

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. — An Air Force C45 plane slammed into a hill six miles south of here Friday killing three persons and critically injuring two others.

Survivors of the crash were Pfc.
Leroy D. Wigglesworth and A2-C Virginia F. Bowman of Portland, Ore. Both were in critical condition at a Klamath Falls hospital.

The three victims, as yet unidentified, included two officers, one reported as a lieutenant colonel.

The twin engine craft, en route from Norton Air Force Base, San Bernardino, Calif., to Monterey AFB in Salem, Ore., crashed during a rain storm shortly after taking off from Klamath Falls Municipal air-

It's the day before Easter, and Johnnie is dyeing eggs. Like most little boys he finds the task pretty fascinating, and he revels in small seas of yellow and red and blue and green.

Easter morning, the eggs will have been hidden by his parents and he and his sister will excitedly hunt for them. Probably they'll stumble across some chocolate bunnies and candy chickens, also. But that will not be all of Easter for them.

Johnnie and his sister will be going to Church, too. They may not understand the complete significance of everything they hear and see... but they are old enough to know something of what Easter means. And with each passing year they will learn a little more.

Johnnie's parents have started early to train their children in spiritual as well as physical values. Easter eggs, yes. But Church, by all means, too. Not just on Easter, either... but on every Sunday in the year.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'The Meaning Of The Resurrection'

Luke 24:28-34; 44-53
GOLDEN TEXT: "But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." (1 Cor. 15:57)

INTRODUCTION — The dark hours of Calvary are past now. Jesus has been taken down from the Cross, wrapped in spices and linens, and laid gently in the tomb. The Roman seal has been placed on the tomb, and a military guard set around it. Jesus is dead, the disciples are disappointed and afraid, and the forces of evil are victorious.

But wait! Is Jesus dead? Are the forces of evil victors? Cheer up, disciples! You are the victors. He that was dead is now alive! Jesus has conquered death and the grave. He has "swallowed death up in victory." "Up from the grave he arose, with a mighty triumph o'er his foes. He arose the victor from the dark domain, and he lives forever, with his saints to reign. He arose! He arose! Hallelujah! Christ arose!"

Two men were walking along the road to Emmaus. They were blue and down-hearted because of the events of the past few days. As they walked along the road, another joined them, and he began to cheer them and to instruct them. They did not first recognize this stranger. He was Jesus, who was dead but is now alive. This same Jesus is still in the business of bringing cheer to the down-hearted, discouraged, and disappointed people.

I BURNING HEARTS (VV. 28-34)
After Jesus had departed from them, these two men said: "Did not our hearts burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the Scriptures?"

What a glorious privilege was theirs to have had Jesus to give them instructions in the Scriptures. And yet, every person can have the same privilege today. There is a church near you. In that church there is a minister and there are Bible teachers. These faithful servants of God stand ready to serve as instruments in the hand of God to instruct you in the Scriptures. Many times your heart will "burn within" as you receive this spiritual food.

These two men turned around and hurried back to Jerusalem. They sought out the eleven to tell them that Jesus was alive. Notice verse 34. The eleven already knew this and were rejoicing. Hear them exclaim: "The Lord is risen indeed and hath appeared unto Simon."

II POWER TO WITNESS (VV. 44-49)

The death of Jesus was for the remission of the sins of men. His resurrection was to conquer death and the powers of darkness. The last enemy of man (death) is now defeated. Christ is risen that he might give power to his disciples to witness for him. Their duty is now to spread the gospel (the good news) to all the world.

These first disciples had to tarry and wait for the Holy Spirit to endue them with power. That is no longer necessary for us. When we come to accept Christ as our personal Saviour, the Holy Spirit comes into our lives to endue us with power from on high. Let us all understand that the preaching and witnessing is not left to those whom we call "full-time" workers. Every Christian should be a "full-time" worker for Christ. It is the responsibility of every Christian to tell others about the power of Jesus to save. You are to bear fruit, and the fruit of a Christian is another Christian.

CONCLUSION — (VV. 50-58)
Jesus had appeared to more than five hundred people after his resurrection. He had renewed fellowship with his disciples. He stood up there on the Mount of Olives one day and gave them his final instructions. Suddenly he began to rise up into the air. His disciples stood there in amazement and watched him disappear behind the clouds. Then an angel appeared, "ye men of Galilee, why stand ye here looking into heaven? This same Jesus who was received up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye beheld him going into heaven." (Acts 1:11)

Jesus Christ lives today at the right hand of God. He is interceding for his followers on earth. He is our advocate (go-between) with the Father. Someday (it may be soon) he will return to earth to gather together all those, dead and living, who have accepted Him as Saviour. It will be a great day for the redeemed of all the ages. It will be a sad and terrible day for all who have rejected Him as Saviour. "Today is the day of salvation, and now is the accepted time." This is your day of opportunity to put your trust in the living, resurrected Saviour.

Democratic Voters:

For the past several years, I have served as Senatorial Committeeman from Saline county. Each county names a committeeman to serve on the District committee to determine the number of Representative nominees, and to fill vacancies in event of emergencies. I have always attempted to work for the best interest of the Democratic party.

Under the new legislative reapportionment, committeemen are elected as before, but are called Representative committeemen. I am a candidate for that office. It pays nothing, except the honor and the chance to be of service to the party. I will appreciate your vote for Representative committeeman at the April 10 primary.

Robin Roberts with 0.90 Earned Run Average Has Hopes for 30-Win Season

By United Press
Robin Roberts' glittering 0.90 earned run average provided ample evidence today that even a 30-victory season is possible for the great right-hander.

A 20-game winner for six straight seasons, the Philadelphia Phillies' 29-year old fireballer is enjoying the finest spring of his career. No big league pitcher has won 30 games since Dizzy Dean reached that total in 1934 but Roberts certainly looks like he can make a strong run for it with any kind of support from his teammates.

Roberts showed the American league champion New York Yankees why he's considered the game's No. 1 pitcher Friday when he mowed them down with two hits for seven innings as the Phillies scored a 2-0 triumph.

In all, Roberts has pitched a total of 20 innings in the Grapefruit league, yielding only 11 hits, two runs and one base on balls.

The Phillies-Yankee game was the only Grapefruit league action on Good Friday but the axe fell on many a spring hopeful as the big league teams reduced their rosters for the long barnstorming trips ahead.

The Cincinnati Redlegs optioned pitcher Charley Rabe to Havana in the International league.

The Yankees reduced their roster to 44 players when they assigned catcher John Blanchard and pitcher Jim O'Reilly to Birmingham, pitchers George Maier and Jim De Palo to Denver and pitchers Jim Coates and Jim Pignatello to Richmond.

Four Players Optioned

The Chicago White Sox cut down to 36 players with the optioning of pitchers Bill Dufour, Paul Stufel and Russ Heman and infielder Joe Kirene to Memphis in the American Association.

Gene Bearden, who won 20 games as a rookie in 1948 when he helped pitch the Cleveland Indians to the American league pennant, was assigned to the Milwaukee Braves to Sacramento in the Pacific Coast league. Bearden had been working out with the Braves although he did not have a contract.

Competition on the citrus circuit resumes today with the Dodgers vs. Redlegs at Tampa, Fla., Cubs vs. Indians at Tucson, Ariz., Braves at Atlanta, Giants vs. Orioles at Phoenix, Ariz., Phillies vs. White Sox at Clearwater, Fla., Pirates vs. Athletics at Birmingham, Ala., Cardinals vs. Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla., and Red Sox vs. Tigers at Lakeland, Fla.

Cardinals Get Hank Sauer in Deal with Cubs

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — General Manager Frank Lane said today the acquisition of Hank Sauer "means the St. Louis Cardinals won't be suckers for every left-handed pitcher in the National league this year."

Sauer, a 37-year old right-handed slugger who was the league's most valuable player in 1952, was obtained by the Cardinals Friday night in exchange for outfielder Pete Whisenant and an unannounced sum of cash.

"It's a move to strengthen our bench," Lane said enthusiastically. "It's no earth-shaker of a deal but it's going to give us right-handed hitting strength that we lacked in the past."

Lane apparently contemplates an outfield of Rip Repulski, Stan Musial and Sauer against lefties with Bill Virdon replacing Sauer against right-handers.

Sauer hit only .211 in 79 games for the Cubs last season but managed to connect for 12 homers and has hit 244 round-trippers during his 11-year big league career.

In Whisenant, the rebuilding Cubs acquired a 26-year old outfielder who hit .333 in 49 games for Toledo last season but who batted only .191 for the Cardinals in 58 games.

White Sox' Aparicio Carries Heaviest Load in Spring Training

TAMPA, Fla. (NEA) — Luis Aparicio is carrying a heavier load than any other ballplayer in training.

If the White Sox are to take advantage of the added zing given them by Larry Doby's bat and remain contenders, young Aparicio must hit enough to succeed his idol, Chico Carrasquel, at shortstop. Here is a highly unusual story — a Venezuelan replacing a Venezuelan at the most important position for a major league club.

Aparicio — pronounced Ap-ah-reach-ee — came fast. He's making the big stab before he's 22 and in his third season of organized ball.

But Aparicio, reminding of Willie Miranda in personal appearance and in the field, is a son of a shortstop and has played since he was 12, so is slightly better than a green hand.

Marty Marion is not at all concerned about Aparicio's fielding and is inclined to believe that the little fellow (5-8, 155), a right-hander, his better than some people suspect. He batted .282 for Waterloo of the Three-Eye, and when Manager Marion recommended that he be promoted from B to AA, he averaged .273 for Memphis, revealing fairly good power.

APARICIO IS A superlative bunter. Exceptionally fast and a skillful baserunner, he swiped 48 bases in the Southern Association, 23 more than his nearest rival, so the Chicago Americans' over-all speed hardly suffers because of his presence.

"He has tremendous range and the arm to go with it," says Slaty Marion, working overtime on the youngster at Al Lopez Field. "His one flaw is that he overplays balls, runs over easy plays, but that's better than not getting to the ball. He can learn to make the play smoother. You can't teach an infielder to get to the ball from B to AA, he's got to have enough hustle to suit the White Sox brass. Aparicio, going after the ball, has to be curbed."

Aparicio, a highly intelligent lad, went to high school for two years, engaged an English tutor when signed by the Pale Hose. The result is that Aparicio speaks much better English than did Carrasquel when he first came around. All Carrasquel could say was "steak," "Chee-cab-go" and "money." They can all say "money." Aparicio's English is broken, but he makes himself perfectly clear.

APARICIO'S BRIEF CAREER has been closely intertwined with that of Carrasquel, traded to the Indians.

The South Siders even landed the boy through his predecessor, for when Frank Lane learned that the prodigy had promised to sign with Cleveland he told Pablo Morales, president of the Caracas club of the Venezuelan League. "Either we get Aparicio or you don't get Carrasquel any more to play in your winter league." That clinched it for $4,000 to Aparicio and $6,000 for the contract.

Aparicio played second base alongside of Carrasquel for Caracas throughout the winter of 1954-55. Last winter he played shortstop for Gavilanes of the Occidental League in his native Maracaibo, in the oil country 500 miles south of Caracas.

Aparicio credits Carrasquel and Marion with showing him the most about playing shortstop.

The best ballplayer he has seen in this country?

"That's easy," says Luis Aparicio, "Nellie Fox."
